

Enter and View volunteer

Healthwatch Islington's Enter and View team visit health and social care settings to observe and assess the service being provided.

Enter and View team members will:

- Research and read background information on the service being visited.
- Observe, and note relevant information during the visit.
- Talk to staff, relatives and service users.
- Contribute to the written report that is produced after the visit.

This role suits volunteers with some knowledge and understanding of health and social care provision. This could be through working in a particular service area, or from experience as a carer or a service user.

Members of the Enter and View team must be willing to undergo relevant training.
